

Weaponised words!

Print could be used as an effective weapon to damage the enemy. Some commentators have even referred to printed words as 'paper bullets'. Can you find examples of 'paper bullets' in 'A Strange Accident at Newark'?

Spreading the news of their victory

Putting a positive spin on their defeat

Motivating people to fight for them

Glorifying their battle heroes

Demoralising or slandering their enemy

Preaching their version of Christianity

