Summer 2024 Brochure

The International Coalition of Sites of Conscience (ICSC) is a global network of places of memory (“sites of conscience”), which aim to preserve and commemorate the happenings of the past to connect to society today. The sites work to remember and preserve significant events and make connection between these and related contemporary human rights issues.

The ICSC is one of Newcastle University’s spotlight partners, providing student internships with sites around the globe, both in-person and virtually.

International Coalition of Sites of Conscience Internships

Eligibility

The internships are open to current students from all subjects, on undergraduate degrees (Stage 2 onwards) and postgraduate degrees (PhD, research and taught).

Students in their final year are eligible to apply.

*MRES and PhD students must consult their academic coordinators before applying for an internship.

Pre-Departure & Training

Successful students are required to attend two pre-departure sessions in March and May 2024.

Students will be required to register their placements via TerraDotta, the University placement management system. They will be required to complete all of the necessary documents and questionnaires required to manage their placement and funding application.

If any serious concerns become apparent during the pre-departure sessions or prior to the internship commencing, the International Office will discuss the situation with the student and may withdraw the offer for the internship.

International Coalition of Sites of Conscience Internships

Virtual Internships

Dates, Duration & Funding

Each internship will last four weeks and will entail 20 hours of work per week. Students will be paid at the Student Worker Level 3 rate (currently £13.44 per hour). The dates of the internships are to be negotiated between the student and host site but are generally expected to take place between June-August 2024.

Any successful applicant will be subject to the University rules on the maximum number of hours that can be worked per week and will only be appointable after a successful 'right to work' check and registration on the University Employment App.

International Coalition of Sites of Conscience Internships

Requirements

Virtual interns may be required to work outside of normal working hours given the time-difference between the UK and some host sites abroad. This is to be negotiated and agreed between the host-site and student prior to commencement of the internship and should only be changed in emergency circumstances.

Students will require access to a laptop or PC, a reliable Wifi connection, and a suitable working environment, similar to that required for study. Please contact Global Opportunities if you are interested in a virtual internship, but lack the required equipment.

International Coalition of Sites of Conscience Internships

In-person Internships

Dates, Duration & Funding

In-person internships will last between 4-6 weeks, depending on the host site requirements. Sites may be open to students extending their internship; however, any additional time worked will not be funded by the university. The dates of the internships are to be negotiated between the student and host, but generally are expected to take place between late June-August 2024.

Students will be expected to work approximately 20 hours per week, working time will be negotiated between the student and host site.

Students on in-person internships will receive a bursary of £2,500, which is a contribution to travel, accommodation and living costs, as well as recognition for your work with the site.

International Coalition of Sites of Conscience Internships

In-person Internships

Travel Considerations

Students will be required to organise their own travel and accommodation to the host site; however, host sites have been requested to signpost appropriate and affordable accommodation options.

Insurance

Interns will be covered by the university insurance policy, which includes essential medical and limited cover for personal belongings. Additional personal insurance is recommended to cover full personal belongings and activity/travel outside of the internship.

Country specific research

Students must research the location of the host site and to carefully consider local living/travel conditions. Students should specifically research safety concerns, as some host sites are located in places with higher levels of crime, risk of extreme weather and/or significantly different cultural conditions. Please research the destination (including the FCDO travel advisories and guidance) before deciding to apply and consider whether this is the right opportunity for you.

International Coalition of Sites of Conscience Internships

In-person Internships

Visas

Visa arrangements are students responsibility.

Neither the University, ICSC, nor the host can arrange visa's for students. Visa requirements will depend upon the student's nationality and personal circumstances and we are unable to provide personalised visa support. Please check the visa requirements for the destinations that you are applying for and only apply for an internship if you believe that you can obtain a visa for your chosen destination.

DBS Checks

Students who will be working with children or vulnerable groups as part of their internship may be required to get a DBS check prior to starting the internship.

Application Process

Students should apply for specific host sites and can apply for a maximum of three internships, whether virtual or in-person. Each application should be specific to the site to which you are applying.

Application includes a maximum two-page CV and completion of an online application form explaining why you are the best fit for the internship in terms of academic background, skills, interest and personal qualities. Please read the details provided by each host carefully to check that you are suited to the internship.

You can find the online application form for virtual internships here and in-person internships here.

Shortlisted virtual candidates will be sent to the relevant host sites, who may wish to conduct an interview themselves before deciding which student is successful.

Shortlisted in-person candidates will be called to an online interview with Newcastle University staff (and where possible, ICSC colleagues). Candidates who are successful in this stage may then be invited to an additional assessment and/or online interview with the internship host sites.

Timeline

International Coalition of Sites of Conscience Internships

Deadlines & Queries

The deadline for applications is
Friday 5th January 2024

Please address any queries regarding your application to Lucy Bell (Lucy.Bell2@newcastle.ac.uk), or book an appointment to discuss your application here.

We regret that we will not be able to give feedback on applicants who are not successfully shortlisted.

Please note - in-person internships are dependent on travel safety advice. Should a country be deemed un-safe to travel at the time of the internship, the opportunity will be reviewed and may be conducted virtually.

Internship Project Briefs

Each host site has provided information about the internship opportunity, and has listed the skills and experience required. Please research the host site (the title of each page links to websites) and read the internship brief carefully.

All internship briefs are guidelines and may be subject to change.

All the projects will require interns who can demonstrate self-motivation, resilience, initiative, professionalism and effective written and spoken communication. Most important is an attitude of humility, openness and readiness to serve and learn.

Please be aware that the ICSC member sites may be small organisations, which may not have experience of hosting interns. Many of the sites deal with challenging and, sometimes distressing topics. Please think carefully about your internship applications, ensuring you have the essential requirements and necessary personal qualities. We will be looking for you to demonstrate these qualities in your application.
